

While learners are away from school during closures it is important that they remain engaged in learning for many reasons that will benefit both your school and the learners. Consider how your school is remaining in contact with parents and learners.

Importance of Engaging Learners While School is Closed

1

It shows the schools commitment to the learners

2

Teachers will have an activity to do and will be active

3

It will create innovative ways for teachers to work remotely with learners even after the end of this pandemic

4

Learners will continue to make academic progress

5

Learners will interact with peers and share learning

6

Learners and parents remain engaged with your school and are therefore more likely to re-enroll when school re-opens
